DETAILED ACTION

Status of Claims

Claim 1 is pending.

This is in response to the amendment filed on 03/13/06. Claim 1 has been amended to reflect that the promoter of the claim process is a by-product from a method of producing titanium tetrachloride from titanium ore.

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Breikss (U.S. Patent number 5,523,453)('453') for the reasons set forth in the previous office action mailed on 12/14/05.

Response to Amendment

Applicant's arguments filed 03/13/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants argue that the promoter of the instant process is a crude residual by-product of a method for producing titanium chloride from titanium ore. This argument is not deemed persuasive because Breikss teaches a hydrocyanation process wherein iron chloride and manganese chloride are employed as promoters. See column 12, lines 28-29 and line 35 where manganese chloride and iron chloride are listed as preferred promoters. The source of the promoter(s) is not considered to be a patentable distinction since the same promoters are being used by Kreikss. Applicants next argue that '453' fails to disclose the byproduct promoter of claim 1 and furthermore, Examples 1, 2 and 3 disclose only the use of zinc chloride as the promoter. In response, applicants have not provided any factual evidence to show that the instantly produced compounds from the hydrocyanation process possess unexpected properties over that of '453'. It is well settled that consideration of a reference is not limited to the preferred embodiments or working examples but extends to the entire disclosure for what it fairly teaches, when viewed in light of the admitted knowledge in the art to a person of ordinary skill in the art. Thus, for the reasons of record, the rejection of claim 1 is being maintained.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

Art Unit: 1626

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
